BRYAN, TEXAS, NOV. 12, 1909.

THE EAGLE'S ADVICE TAKEN.

Every man, woman and child in Bryan with a good pair of lungs, who can get away, ought to go to Houston Monday and root for A. and M. Get up and go along, and when the proper time comes make a noise like "the war of elements, the wreck of matter and the crush of worlds."—Bryan Eagle.

And they did that very thing—made the old bird scream and then scream some more.—Houston Post.

And to show their appreciation the College boys came to town Wednesday night en masse, making the earth rock with their martial tread and causing the sky to bulge upward with their mighty voices. Come when they will, at any hour of the day or night, they are welcome. There is nothing in Bryan too good for chivalric wearers of red and white.

One difference between Agricultural Commissioner Kone and Cone Johnson is that the name of each has a spell in it differing from that in the other.

Those who are worrying about whether or not Attorney General Davidson will be a candidate for governor may as well possess their souls in patience. He will be a candidate and don't you forget it. This is a prediction, not a threat, for The Eagle has no inside information.

The Houston Post relates this "cute" incident: "The A. and M. cadets were marching down the street in the Monday parade when a negro mammy of the 'fo-de-wah' type remarked: "Ah just doan' see wy dem Y. M. C. A. boys doan' weah dem purty suits all th' time. Ah sho' do think 't'hesse cute."

When General Reyes, late governor of Nuevo Leon, passed through San Antonio a few days ago a large group of Mexicans who were at the depot to greet him made the welkin ring with their "Vivas," to which he responded, as the Monterey News assures us, "con movimientos de cabeza."

There is a dispute between the Albany Argus and the Montgomery Advertiser as to whether Governor Campbell wore anything but a plug hat when he welcomed the presidents of the United States and of Mexico at El Paso. We can assure the disputants that our governor was arrayed in the complete panoply of an immaculate carpet knight.

Nobody who knows Brazos county can doubt that the Lord intended it to be the garden spot of Texas, which means, of course, that it is the best place on earth. The farmers are beginning to realize their privileges and are striving to be worthy of their vocation. The only lack is more farmers—twice as many of the same sort. Let's try to get them.

Do the teachers of Bryan still train their pupils in the fire drill? The question is suggested by this description of an incident in a Fort Worth school clipped from the Record: "Making his way into the north side of the High School building, Thursday afternoon, Chief Bidecker of the fire department sounded the alarm gong and instantly there came wending in double quick step from each of the rooms a column of children and thirty-two seconds later each and all of the 502 students and the corps of teachers were safely outside the walls. The drill was witnessed by Fire and Police Commissioner Mulkey, who with Chief Bidecker, is making an inspection of all the school buildings of the city."

AN INVITATION.

On the morrow a distinguished ecclesiastic will come within the gates of our city and will remain until Sunday noon. The visitant is the Right Rev. G. H. Kinsolving, D. D., Bishop of the Diocese of Texas. It is well known that the world is governed, and its people made happier, through the influence of strong personalities. An ex-president said in one of his noted speeches that the best thing one could do for his mind was to come in contact with great people. We believe that no stronger tonic can be given than that which results from meeting famous characters, and it is with this thought in mind that the Rector of St. Andrew's church extends a general invitation to the citizens of our little city to meet Bishop Kinsolving at an informal reception to be held at the Rectory Saturday evening from 7 to 10 o'clock. This invitation is made to all regardless of creed, or lack of it, as also of profession. The opportunity of meeting a man who is orig. physically, mentally, and spiritually, is at hand, and it is hoped that ere it passes many of our people will take advantage of the great privilege. If you are a member of the parish, it is your duty to welcome the Bishop in person; if you are interested in the welfare of the community here is a chance to show your appreciation of the one who is trying to advance the life of our people in every way. Come and give the Bishop a hearty welcome to our city and the deed will not fail to help you.
